

Tuesday, January 20, 2009: This is a broadcast email from the Canadian Rivers Network:

The federal government has advanced plans in place to strip navigation rights from thousands of rivers across Canada, and they plan to do this quickly without public consultation under the pretext of saving the economy.

Please help any way you can:

1. Distribute this information through your networks.
2. Act and encourage others to act by initiating efforts to inform politicians at every level that navigation rights and environmental laws in Canada should not be tinkered with under the guise of helping the economy.
3. If you are a member of an organization that wants to be publicly listed as a supporter of the Canadian Rivers Network, let us know by sending us an email with the name of your organization, and contact information for a designated representative.
4. Speak the media about the NWPA issue at whatever level you can, local, regional, provincial or national.
5. Let us know if you have the name of anyone who is qualified and willing to speak to the national media on behalf of the Canadian Rivers Network.
